Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD): Social Expenditure Database (SOCX 2004), 1980-20011998

The OECD Social Expenditure Database (SOCX 2004) provides data for OECD countries on social indicators. It includes reliable, up-to-date and internationally comparable statistics on public and private social expenditure at program level. SOCX 2004 provides a unique tool for monitoring trends in aggregate social expenditure and analyzing changes in its composition. It covers 30 OECD countries for the period 1980-2001. The main social policy areas include old age, disability, occupational injury, sickness benefits, survivors, family benefits, labor market programs, health, housing, etc. See http://www.oecd.org/document/2/0,3343,fr_2649_34637_31612994_1_1_1_1,00.html
